Love Divine, All Loves Excelling

Text: Charles Wesley

Music: B.F. White, Arr. Jason Thomas Aylward

The audience is requested to stand. After the ceremony, please remain at your seat until all graduates and faculty have exited.*

Love Divine, All Loves Excelling

Love divine, all loves excelling,
joy of heav'n, to earth come down,
fix in us thy humble dwelling,
all thy faithful mercies crown.
Jesus, thou art all compassion,
pure, unbounded love thou art.
Visit us with thy salvation;
enter ev'ry trembling heart.

Breathe, O breathe thy loving Spirit into ev'ry troubled breast.
Let us all in thee inherit,
let us find the promised rest.
Take away the love of sinning;
Alpha and Omega be.
End of faith, as its beginning,
set our hearts at liberty.

Come, Almighty, to deliver,
let us all thy life receive.
Suddenly return, and never,
nevermore thy temples leave.
Thee we would be always blessing,
serve thee as thy hosts above,
pray, and praise thee without ceasing,
glory in thy perfect love.

Finish, then, thy new creation;
true and spotless let us be.
Let us see thy great salvation perfectly restored in thee.
Changed from glory into glory,
till in heav'n we take our place,
till we cast our crowns before thee,
lost in wonder, love and praise.

Welcome

The Pageantry of Academic Regalia

Traditional academic attire originated in the Middle Ages as the regular garb of scholars. In the unheated buildings and lecture halls of the day, the robes, hoods, and caps were very practical.

The GOWN was useful outerwear, and it served to equalize class and wealth distinctions in the community of scholars. Today, in the U.S., the gown is customarily black, though it may be one of the colors of the school. The doctoral gown commonly has trim down the front and three velvet bars on the sleeves, in black or in the color of the degree field. To represent the President, the doctoral gown will have an extra chevron bar on the sleeve.

Additionally, the President will also wear the CHAIN OF OFFICE as a symbol of Southeastern's history and tradition. Each Chain of Office is as unique as the institution it represents. The Chain of Office at Southeastern University features small gold plates engraved with the names of the past presidents and their years of service. These plates are linked together and meet at the center, where the university's seal is proudly displayed.

The HOOD originated as a practical head covering but today is strictly ceremonial. It is commonly worn by those holding master's or doctoral degrees and differs in length according to the degree. Hoods are lined with the colors of the conferring institution and trimmed with an edging in the color of the degree field.

The "Oxford" CAP or MORTARBOARD possibly developed as a ceremonial combination of a close-fitted indoor cap and a soft square-topped outdoor cap.

The TASSEL is customarily worn on the left by degree holders, thus bachelor's degree candidates wear the tassel on the right until the symbolic "moving of the tassel" at a climactic point in the graduation ceremony.

The golden CORDS worn by certain undergraduate students are used to indicate students with honors of GPAs of 3.5 and higher.

About Southeastern University

From its inception in 1935, Southeastern University has been a Christ-centered, student-focused learning community. Southeastern's global impact is marked by a deep commitment to helping students discover and develop their divine design through the integration of faith, learning and service. The school has evolved and relocated through the years, gradually expanding its degree offerings along with its student population, and moving in 1952 to its current campus in Lakeland, Florida.

As one of the fastest-growing private, nonprofit master's institutions in the nation, Southeastern offers more than 100 degree programs at the undergraduate, graduate and doctoral levels. Southeastern enrolls both traditional and nontraditional students, who represent a variety of denominations, personal interests, backgrounds, states and countries. With more than 200 extension sites, regional campuses and partners around the world, the university is providing affordable, accessible degree options and making higher education possible for an increasingly diverse student body. Now more than 85 years since its founding, Southeastern continues to encourage its graduates to impact culture as leaders through a lifestyle of excellence and integrity.
